Tough New DWI Penalties for New York

In November 2009, New York implemented a new impaired driving law with 2 major components; toughen the penalties for driving impaired with children (effective 12/18/2009) and require interlock devices for those sentenced on or after 8/15/2010. Important provisions of this new law include:

- First time offenders driving while intoxicated (.08 Blood Alcohol Content (BAC) or more) or impaired by drugs while a child of younger than 16 years old is in the vehicle may be charged with a class E felony punishable by up to 4 years in State prison.
- Drivers who drive while intoxicated or impaired by drugs and cause serious physical injury or death to a child in the vehicle may be charged with the Class C or B felony, punishable by up to 15-25 years in State prison.
- Courts must sentence all drivers convicted of a misdemeanor or felony DWI to install and maintain an ignition interlock, for at least 6 months, on any vehicle owned and operated by such driver.
- Individuals charged with driving with a blood alcohol level of .08 or greater and with a child under the age of 16 in the vehicle will automatically have their license suspended pending prosecution.
